

Junior DevOps Developer

Location: Kielce (Świętokrzyskie)

About us

Sourceful ICT is providing tailor-made applications to her customers that want to differentiate and make an impact. We do this by the core belief to first understand our clients before we can be a real partner. By using the latest low-code development platform, our technicians can bring the best possible solution to life!

Translating complex business cases into secure and scalable solutions all surrounded by a great user experience is where your passion resides. During this process, you will work closely with your colleagues from the design team. As a team, you will be creating and testing applications, with an eye for quality and detail.

The development process is a team effort with several team roles and is set up in multiple stages. From identifying functions in a customer journey, translating this into wire frames and mock-ups. This of course accompanied by a solid application architecture, designs, and translating this all together with the customer into backlog items so you can start developing this solution.

Characteristics

If you are in constant need of further personal development and growth, and you would like to be a part of a great team that builds on future-proof digital solutions for interesting customers, you might consider reading further. If you feel that you have super skills such as:

- Azure environment and products: Kubernetes, MSSQL, App Services, Container Instances, Container Registry, Blob Storage, Monitoring
- Azure DevOps - Pipeline
- We build services using Docker Container with:
 - .NET Core using C#,
 - communication interface using REST or gRPC

Language: Polish and English level B2

Location: Kielce, Poland

Working at Sourceful

We don't have many rules, but we have a lot of common sense. Our commitment to our culture is highlighted in 7 Golden Rules, written by our Founder, Joanna Zielonka. This commitment to culture has an impact in what we do in our day-to-day work in serving clients the best we can.

Disrupting the status quo is in our DNA. In fact, it's why our company exists.

We ask "why" a lot. It helps us connect to our customers and our individual work to the bigger picture, and sometimes even uncover a better way. Our offices are great places to be, but will never be the place to enjoy your comfort zone for too long. We're much more innovative thrill-seekers.

What are the Sourceful Perks?

- Primary: B2B contract, competitive salary range, depending on your experience and ambition
- Secondary: Health and life insurances, English language classes, great-tasting coffee, tea, fruits, sweets, and time to relax on our Xbox, and since we believe in the slogan 'work hard, play hard, we're also organizing a monthly pizza session or drinks at our favorite café
- Thirdly: Reside on the 11th floor at our brand new office overlooking the whole city
- Most important: A great team to work with, with a cooperative and open-minded culture

The company culture is open-minded, focused on innovation, and being one step ahead of the current market.

Zapraszamy do złożenia CV recruitment@sourceful.nl

Mob: +48 789 293 159 / Stona: <https://sourceful.nl/en/>